

Challenge Accepted®: Ashley

He was trying to set up this surprise proposal in Colorado and he was going to pop the question when they were hiking.

He wanted to rent a car, but he didn't have a credit card.

We got him approved for a credit card, and then had it overnighted to the branch so that he could pick it up here.

And when he came back, he was so excited. He showed me the video of him proposing to her.

It was really nice to see that something... doing one extra little thing could make such a big impact.

That's Challenge Accepted®.
