

Hispanic Heritage Month

Transcript

So, this year's Hispanic Heritage Month theme is incredibly meaningful to me. It makes me think about my grandparents and my great grandparents who came to the States and struggled quite a bit. They gave up a lot and they risked a lot to come to a brand-new country, different language, different culture, simply to make a better life for themselves and their family.

I hope to help make a difference. I hope to help others see their value, how important they are, that their differences are incredibly meaningful, and that everybody can really contribute to the organization that they're a part of, the communities that they live in.
